Notice is characterized by playing with contrast and presents itself as a versatile font family. Comprising the »Sans«, »Classic«, and »Decor« families, it provides font styles with either light, medium, or high contrast.

The Notice font family bridges the gap between two extremes. »Sans« ensures high readability for small sizes and large bodies of text, while »Decor«, with extremely high contrast, serves decoratively for larger displays like headlines. The interplay of the three families is created, including the dynamic connection of vertical strokes and counters, forming a distinctive characteristic.

The OpenType® features fundamentally contribute to the versatility of individual font styles. Stylistic alternatives allow the font to appear differently, accommodating individual typographic preferences.

The comprehensive support for the entire Latin script, including Vietnamese characters, makes Notice an outstanding choice for projects requiring applications with exceptional diversity.

The Neapolitan flip coffee pot (Italian: napoletana or caffettiera napoletana) is a drip brew coffeemaker for the stove top that was very popular in Italy until last century. Unlike a moka express, a napoletana does not use the pressure of steam to force the water through the coffee, relying instead on gravity. The napoletana was invented in 1819 by a Frenchman named Morize. It was originally constructed out of copper, until 1886,
